

Dolphin room fun

Today children in the kindy and pre-kindy age groups explored the Dolphin room, which adjoins the Stingray room. There were so many new learning experiences set up there that the children had not previously played with.

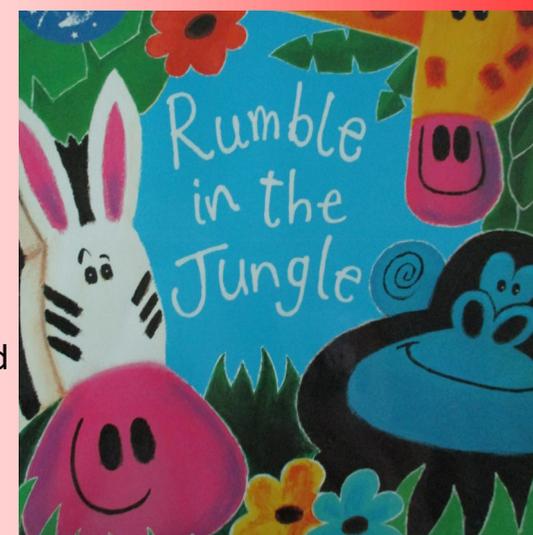

The children loved having a go at dressing up in costumes and placing these back on a hanger and playing in home corner. Some also pretended to go shopping with a grocery basket and toy packets of food.

There was a great carpet space with large pillows where the children listened to the book Rumble in the Jungle. They pointed out the different colours on the pages, the different types of animals and loved listening to all the rhyming words.

Different varieties of puzzles and books also kept the children entertained.

There is always so much fun to be had in the Stingray and Dolphin rooms.

We also read our favourite book, Where is Green Sheep?

Sound bingo

Today the children played a game of sound bingo after their rest time. They were each given a bingo card with six different pictures of everyday creatures and items that make different noises.

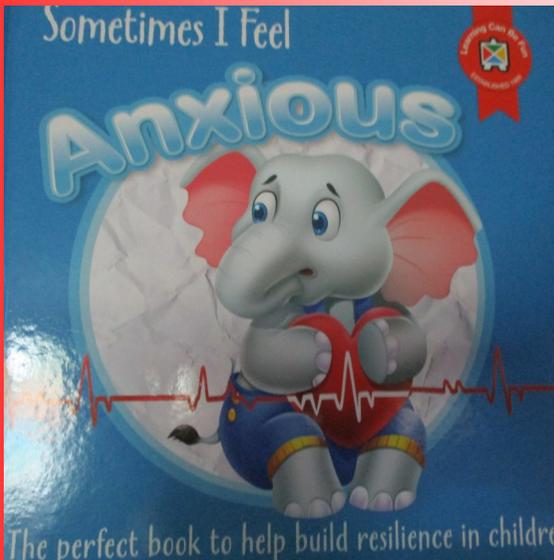

They listened as sounds were played, before looking at their card to identify if the corresponding picture was on their card. They had a lot of fun doing this. They heard the sounds of cats, babies, helicopters, racing cards and more.

After this, we sang songs about Autumn and bunny rabbits.

We also had a look at the book Sometimes I Feel Anxious.

Exploring our feelings and emotions and learning what we can do to keep calm can help us to become more resilient.

Reflection of the day

As the number of enrolments grow, more rooms at BTP Early Learning Centre will be opened. They are set up and ready to go and the kindy and pre-kindergarten children loved exploring a different room to learn and play in.

We will explore this room more often throughout the coming weeks.

The younger children in the Sharks and Turtles group stayed with Miss Caitlin throughout the morning to play.
