Easter bunny foot prints

Miss Taylah prepared another easter painting for us today, we created little easter bunnies with our foot prints and at the end Miss Taylah added on some little ears and a cotton ball for the bunnies Taylah.

This experience was one on one and each of the children wanted to join in. Weixuan was the first to sit down at the table with Miss Taylah, he helped Miss Taylah take off his socks and when it was time to paint his little feet, he stared at his feet wondering what was going on, at first he was a little unsure as he flinched his foot back and forth, when Miss Taylah pressed down his foot onto the paper he watched as he could see his footprint transfer onto the paper. He was eager to do his second foot, quickly reaching to take off his sock. Harvey stood next to Miss Taylah waiting patiently for his turn, while he waited, He prompted Miss Zoe to help him take off his shoes. Once it was Harvey's turn, he flinched his foot back and forth with a little smile as it tickled. Olivia was next at the table, she was a little unsure at first but happily allowed Miss Taylah to continue with the painting. Miss Taylah had started putting the paint on her foot and Olivia moved her foot back quickly as it was very cold, she then let Miss Taylah continue, Olivia reached down to feel the paint on her foot, she smiled as she seen her foot print transfer onto the paper. Ethan was eager to do his painting with Miss Taylah, as Miss Taylah painted his foot softly he reached down to his feet to touch the cold paint on his foot, he couldn't take his eyes off of his footprint on the paper. Miss Zoe asked Eleanor if she was ready to do her foot painting, she nodded her head and quickly sat down at the table with Miss Taylah, Miss Taylah softly brushed the paint onto Eleanor's feet, she smiled at Miss Taylah as she moved her little feet around. Jacqueline was sitting at the table near her friends watching as Miss Taylah painted their feet, once Miss Taylah had finished doing the painting experience with the other children she sat down next to Jacqueline and asked if she wanted to have a turn, she looked at the paint brushes but didn't overly understand, Miss Taylah guided Jacqueline through the painting experience, she happily allowed Miss Taylah to paint her feet, looking very closely as she could see her footprint transferred onto the paper.

The children are showing a great interest in all the Easter art work they have been doing throughout this week and are really enjoying getting involved with their creative sides.

Never touch a grumpy bunny!

Miss Taylah brought in another easter book to read with us, this easter book was a sensory book, Eleanor, Ethan and Harvey were very interested in exploring the bunny book with Miss Taylah, touching all the different textures through out the book. Once they had finished reading through the book and feeling all the different textures, Miss Taylah say by Jacqueline to read the grumpy bunny book, Jacqueline stood by Miss Taylah as she read through the book.

Exploring the bunny ears!

Miss Taylah and Miss Zoe brought out the bunny ears for us to have a little play around with. Ethan and Harvey were loving having turns of the bunny ears, they passed them to each other and giggled as they shared. As soon as we put the bunny ears on Weixuan he gave every one a big smile. Eleanor kept pulling the bunny ears off and then trying to put them back on her head.

How cute are our little bunnies?
