Story of the day
'Easter baby animals'

Today we enjoyed another story on easter, this one about all the baby animals and what yummy treats they would be getting.

Music play

One of the favourite things to do in the starfish room is listen to music and make our own. They played the drums making lots of noise. They watched all the balls run from the top to the bottom of the tube making different sounds as fell through. You could see some little wiggles as they moved their bodies to the music.

Today we played with some purple playdough!

The children pushed and squished the playdough with their hands and explored the texture of it. Harlow found Miss Korissa's playdough worms very funny. Ashlyn was very curious about the playdough at first but then started to play with it once watching Miss Korissa

Playdough develops fine motor skills through using their hands and fingers to shape, squish and poke it. It also motivates children to explore its their sensors through touch.

Alina's First Day!

Today we welcome our new friend Alina to the Starfish room. Alina settled in very well today and seemed to enjoy playing with the sensory toys.

We also send a warm welcome to Alina's family and look forward to having you as part of our community.

Reflection of the day

Today the children were settled within the room and are more comfortable both in the room and with their educators.

We welcomed other new child Alina who fit right in with everyone.

As we are getting to know the children a lot more, we are finding out the things that best comfort them within the room.
