Earth Day Painting

Today the children participated in an experience that celebrates world earth day. The children used green and blue paint and thick handled brushes to paint a circle which was to represent the Earth. Then in the middle the children made their own mark on the earth by printing a picture of their hand giving them a sense of belonging in our world.

Miss Zoe shared with the children some knowledge during the experience about the world we live in and how we care for our community and the environment.

Spontaneous Play

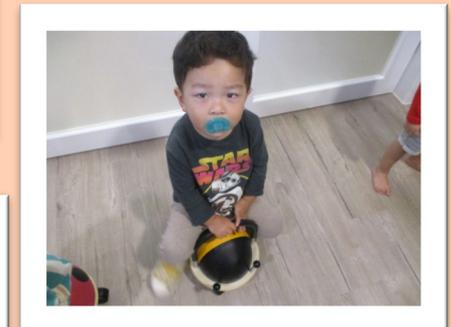

As the children were taking turns of painting their Earth artworks, Miss Tanya decided it would be a brilliant idea for the children to get adventurous and creative with playdough.

As the children were each playing with the playdough, they were identifying the colours one by one with a little prompting from Miss Tanya.

With the Sea animals scattered along the table our educators thought it would be a fantastic idea to incorporate the Sea wildlife into the playdough. For example the blue identified as the sea ocean whereas the green identified as the seaweed.

Whilst the children were having so much fun playing with the playdough, Azalea and Olivia loved playing with the puzzles showing Miss Tanya which piece matches the cut outs of the puzzles. Both helping one another they successfully completed all the puzzles. Hanson was a little less interested in the playdough he was more interested in using his imagination to play with all the different toys that surround the Seahorse classroom! Samik was a little hesitant to participate in the activities planned from the Seahorse educators today, he built a great connection with Miss Tanya receiving helps of cuddles as they played with many toys!

Yoga Class Adventures

Wow! What a new experience the Seahorse children got to participate in this morning!

After having such a eventful morning painting Earth artworks, playing with playdough and exploring the room. The Yoga class was the perfect way to settle the children for lunch then rest time.

Us educators were super proud of the children participating in all the Yoga poses copying the instructor every move. Each one of the Seahorse students had a go! Smiling and giggling between one another all of them seem to really enjoy themselves!
