Edible Playdough!

We hope you all had a wonderful and safe long weekend and got visited by the Easter Bunny!

To start off our week Miss Taylah had gotten the ingredients to make some edible playdough for the jellyfish, this was a fun sensory experience, allowing the children to get involved with their 5 senses, taste, touch, smell, sight & sound.

All the children were very excited to participate in this sensory experience. Amal was first up to help mix the marshmallow playdough mixture, she was super excited. Amal had a massive smile on her face as she mixed the cornflower into the marshmallow. Harvey and Aria loved playing with the left over flour spread over the table, pressing their hand print onto the table.

Isabella, Hannah and Jayden were very curious to see what the mixture was, helping Miss Taylah mix it all together for it to finally start transforming into playdough.

Amelia and Weixuan loved using the playdough cut outs to turn the playdough into shapes, with a little help from Miss Aura and Miss Zoe. Weixuan and Amelia made many different circles and stars!

Zaidyn also loved doing the cut outs of the playdough, the playdough had a very sweet smell from the Marshmallow. Which made Zaidyn want to eat all his cut out shapes, luckily it was edible!

Spontaneous Play

Today Harvey enjoyed playing with the stacking rings and spaceship he enjoyed sitting down quietly pulling them apart then putting them back together again he found this to be very amusing.

Amal enjoyed playing with the different puzzles she had a lot of fun placing the different pieces back into the correct spots and trying to say the correct colours to miss Aura she also enjoyed sitting down quietly and reading books to herself.

Zaidyn, Hannah, and Isabella all enjoyed sitting down and playing with the mega blocks they would build little towers and then knock them down for fun they also enjoyed coming up with other great little creations using the blocks and would show miss Aura and miss Zoe the different fun colours they came in.

Jayden found the hammer and coloured peg board on the shelf, he quickly brought in to the floor and started banging the pegs down with the hammer, look at you go Jayden, well done.

Weixuan and Hannah enjoyed reading books today he especially enjoyed the sensory books feeling all the different textures on the animals in the story's.
