

Starfish Daily Stories

ANZAC DAY

As ANZAC DAY is coming up, the starfish children read a story about ANZAC day called 'My Grandad Marches on ANZAC DAY' The children looked at the different pictures as they listened to the story.

We also started our craft for ANZAC DAY, making medals. The children pick different craft items available to use and glued them on the paper with a little help with the glue.

On the 25 April, the Anzac Day Dawn Service starts at 4.28am sharp at Brisbane City's Shrine of Remembrance, Anzac Square, located between Ann and Adelaide Streets.

Music

Wednesday

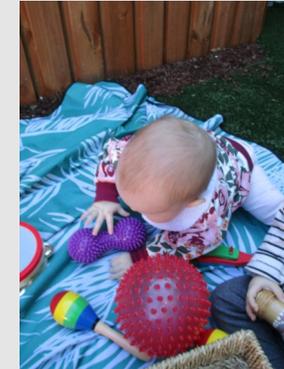

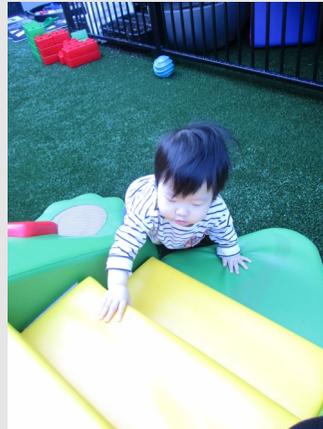

This morning the starfish children had a music session.

They got to pick from lots of different instruments and explore them and the sounds they make. The children got to listen to the different sounds their educators made with them and then they copied the sound or made their very own.

Babies and toddlers don't always have the vocabulary they need to express themselves and can get frustrated when they are unable to verbalise their feelings. Musical baby and infant toys give children an opportunity to express however they are feeling in the moment as well as just being a whole lot of fun!

Outdoor fun

The starfish children working on their gross motor skills, Playing with the sand and throwing balls around the yard.

Lunch time

For lunch was chicken noodles. All the children had their own and fun way of working out how to eat the noodles.
