

STINGRAY DAILY STORY

Welcome Thomas to the Stingray room. Thomas had a great first day today, he really enjoyed being able to play in the yard before lunch. He spent time playing on the slides and exploring the yard.

We can't wait to get to know Thomas and to spend more time with him.

WELCOME

Toothbrush Painting

Mikayla, Spencer and Keaston each had a go at toothbrush painting. Different textures were made using the toothbrushes in comparison to using regular paintbrushes. Mikayla enjoyed the painting activity so much that she decided to make another piece of artwork. They all made beautiful artwork using a variety of colours. Painting is a very fun and therapeutic activity for the children.

Yoga Class

A yoga instructor visited us this morning to conduct a yoga class for the children. They sang a song about the sun shining and the moon while performing actions such as stretching and laying on the floor. They then read a yoga book that taught the children to imitate actions of snakes, lions, butterflies, ballerinas and trees. Miss Stacey assisted Violet with performing the yoga poses as she was a bit shy, Thomas and Hanson observed the yoga poses to learn what to do for next time.

Children derive enormous benefits from yoga. It enhances their flexibility, strength, coordination, and body awareness. In addition, it improves their concentration, sense of calmness and relaxation, which is perfect just before rest time.

Outdoor play

Today the children engaged in outdoor play twice, once before morning tea and once before lunch. While outside in the morning Mikayla made some food for Miss Briohny and Mr Shane. Once we went to the big yard Mikayla and Spencer helped to water the flowers.

Before lunch Mikayla, Spencer, Keaston and Thomas spent some time playing on the playground. Using their turn taking skills they took turns sliding gdown the different slides. Keaston, Spencer, Violet and Thomas decided to play together in the boat. They imagined they were driving the boat around.

We also enjoyed morning tea and afternoon tea outside today on the mat, as the weather was just the right temperature.
