World Ocean Day sensory exploration

In celebration of world ocean day Miss Taylah had prepared a messy but very fun sensory experience for the Jellyfish children. This messy sensory experience involved sand made out of crackers crushed up, the water was made out of unset jelly. Miss Taylah added in some of our plastic sea animals, shells and little wooden logs. It was all set up as a beach.

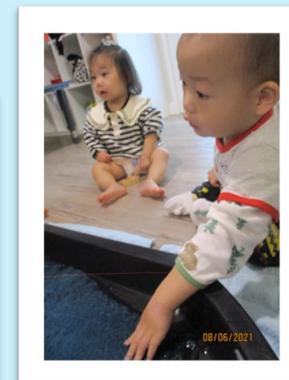

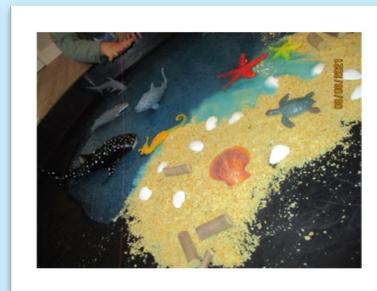

Once Miss Taylah had it all set up the children dived in and started exploring, the edible sand was mixed in with the jelly water, creating a paste, Harvey loved mixing the two together. Aria, Ethan and Archie enjoyed splashing the jelly around, Hannah, Olivia, Weixuan, Isabella and Amelia maneuvered the sea animals through the jelly water as if they were swimming through the water. At first Amal sat back and watched her friends get involved with the messy play, Miss Taylah started asking Amal some questions about the different animals they could see and the different colours, Amal repeated each of the sea animals and colours Miss Taylah was talking about. Ariana had just arrived during the messy play, she wasn't overly to sure about the experience and watched from afar.

The children really enjoyed engaging in this group experience, they were about to come together and express their thoughts and ideas either through verbal communication and non-verbal communication, we were about to take note of their body language. They all done so well engaging as a group, sharing the items inside the tray and working together. They used their fine motor skills, hand eye co-ordination, imagination, problem solving skills and creativity throughout this group experience.

Group time with Miss Alaura

During group time we got sit together as a group with Miss Alaura and Miss Taylah. Miss Alaura used all our animal puppets on display and we got to sing along with her as she sang "Old Mc Donald had a farm." We were so engaged with her enthusiasm and most of us even started to dance in the background by Miss Jade.

Our book for the day was "We're going on a bear hunt." We all participated in this and Miss Taylah has a display on the wall that we can look at and we can see all the pictures on display such as the grass to the water, forest and cave and back home. We get so excited when this book gets read to us.

Our group time was so good this morning and love how each child in our room got so much pleasure and enjoyment from this.

Spontaneous indoor play

This morning Amal, Isabella and Amelia showed a great interest in the different styled puzzles that were found on the mat, they each chose a certain puzzle and maneuvered the puzzle pieces into the correct spot, Amal and Isabella worked together on the alphabet puzzle with Miss Alaura as this was a little bit harder than the others. Aria used her hands to push down all the pegs on the peg board, then used the hammer to push them back the other way. Harvey showed a great interest in the story book board, he ran his finger across each of the scenarios and babbled along as Miss Taylah was reading out the words, Amal and Amelia both joined in with Harvey.
