Story time-My Country

For group time Miss Matisse sat down with our babies and read a book called "My Country."

This was a "dreamtime story," about a little girl and what she does throughout the day.

Amelia thoroughly enjoyed the book and sat quietly while Miss Matisse read to her, Harlow quickly joined in and happily liked seeing all the colourful pictures. Arden slowly crawled over too as she wanted to see what all the excitement was about.

Our babies tend to do so well in group settings and love when we are able to read them a book.

Fun with Jelly

Our activity for the day was a sensory one. We got Miss Julie to make us orange jelly as "Uluru," and crushed biscuits as our "land."

Our babies got so much excitement out of this, at first Amelia was a little hesitant to touch it but after a few attempts she absolutely enjoyed the sensation and how the jelly felt. Soon after she began to put it in her mouth and eat it. She had such a cheeky grin.

Arden tends to get right into all our experiences she put the jelly and biscuit crumbs straight into her mouth while playing with the dingo in the other hand.

Harlow had a fun time with the jelly and biscuit crumb by the end of it, it was all over her she particularly liked the jelly and squishing it in her hands.

They also had so much fun with the feathers and assorted Australian animals. What a great morning in the starfish room.

Spontaneous play

In the Starfish room our babies liked the assorted balls with different textures in them, they got to roll the ball to each other and even try to throw it.

They also thought it was a fun idea to look at themselves in the wooden boxes with mirrors in them, Arden, Amelia and Harlow always go for them and get so much enjoyment out of these.

Our obstacle course is a favourite in our room and all our babies like to play and try to climb on it and over it.

Hailey has so fun in our room too and played with the teething stacking rings and rattles, she is so good when we place her in the bouncer and grabs the toys, she even participated and sat along us and played with the other children, she also does our group time sessions.

Reflection of the day

Our day has been amazing and we have all had so much fun in our Starfish room. We all enjoyed our sensory activity and even better we could eat it.

We also had a few babies from the Seahorse room come and join us too for a little play too.

Hailey has come along way and is really settling in well with our educators.
