WEEKLY TOPIC:

BOOK WEEK

REMINDER

TOMORROW IS OUR TEDDY BEAR PICNIC. THE CHILDREN ARE INVITED TO BRING IN THEIR FAVOURITE TEDDY OR SOFT TOY.

WE ALSO WANT TO REMIND EVERYONE THAT THE CHILDREN CAN BRING IN THEIR FAVOURITE BOOK THIS WEEK TO SHARE WITH THEIR FRIENDS.

HAIRY McCLARY CRAFT

To commence book week, the children engaged in Hairy Maclary art and craft. They were each given a paper plate and a squeeze bottle filled with glue, to apply it on the paper plate. A few children struggled with squeezing the glue out of the bottle and needed some assistance from Miss Taylor. They were then shown a picture as an example as what their Hairy Maclary creation could look like. The children then proceeded to grab bits of wool and placed it around the paper plate. Some creations turned out hairier than others and that describes the character "Hairy Maclary" perfectly.

'Yay Playdough' Keaston yelled out when he saw miss Stacey place it out on the table. All of the children followed him to the playdough station. Hanson decided to make a sandwich from his playdough, placing layers on top of each other and squishing it down. Mikayla, Thomas and Spencer asked Miss Stacey to make balls from the playdough and they used the playdough tools to cut into them. Some children resourced their own play by bringing over items from home corner to include in their playdough creations.

BOOK WEEK PLAYDOUGH MATS

DANCING

Mikayla asked if we could listen to 'head, shoulders, knees and toes'. Miss Taylor put the song on for her and Spencer, Thomas and Keaston joined her on the mat. The children all did the dance moves and giggled with each other. After the song finished Keaston asked for 'the bunny song'. The children love pretending to be sleeping bunnies. Spencer helped wake the sleeping bunnies by yelling 'wake up bunnies'. We danced to a few more songs before going outside for a run. The children love dancing with their friends and Educators.

We decided to have group time outside in the yard for a change. To continue on from our Hairy Maclary arts and crafts activity, we read the Hairy Maclary book. The children sat comfortably on the mat while Miss Taylor read out the Hairy Maclary book. The children enjoyed seeing the variety of dog breeds on the book and even the “evil” cat towards the end of the book. The children tend to enjoy reading books on the mat.

Analysis of learning

Reflection of the day

This week our room topic is book week. Each day we are going to focus on a story and create craft around that story. Today's story was 'Hairy McClary' and the children used wool to create their own Hairy McClary's. Tomorrow's book is 'Where is the Green sheep?'
