Our story time!

What a fun start of morning we had today when soon after morning tea, a story teller, all dressed in a pirate costume, came in our room to do a story time with children. At first, children got confused as eh was wearing wig and a costume and started getting unsettled. But soon, as soon as he opened his little treasure box and took out a big book, children started looking at it carefully.

Everybody had a turn to have a look at the book and they loved touching the big pictures in the book. Hailey, Harlow and Arden enjoyed going through one page to another while observing all the pictures and we had a look at different fish on one page as well.

Before leaving, the story teller blew some bubbles for children as well and children loved playing with it. It was such a fun experience for children which gave them exposure to familiarise with new people and things.

Making a fish from Hand prints!

For art time today we created little rainbow fish using the babies handprints and some purple, orange, and pink paint. Children loved the ticklish feeling of paint brush bristles on their hands when Ms Alaura touched it on their hands for painting.

Arden said, " OO-OO! As she felt that tickle on her hands and giggled. Hailey and Harlow laughed out loud while getting their hands painted and Harlow said, " Ta!Ta!Ta! As she was asking for the paint brush to hold in her hands.

Madeleine carefully observed the imprints of her hands on the paper by touching it with her finger. Today's art not only focussed on sensory development of children but also was a fun while doing.

Indoors and outdoors

After the show today Miss Megha and Miss Matisse decided have indoor and outdoor play. Miss Matisse took Harlow, Madeleine and Arden outside and Miss Megha stayed inside with Bonnie and Hailey. Miss Matisse took some cars and the car mat out into the yard as well as having the foam climbing equipment and ball pit out for the babies to play with. Arden was happy playing with the cars and rolling them around on the mat showing Miss Matisse what she could do. Madeleine got in and played with the cars but soon after went in to Miss Megha and played with the baby dolls. Harlow was excited to run exploring the different activities that Miss Matisse had placed out for them, making sure she played with the cars, ball pit and foam climbing block. Hailey decided to stay inside with Miss Megha looking through the books that are in the room and pointing to different things in the paper. Bonnie was happy to sit in the rocker and play with the rattle toys that Miss Megha had placed next to her, kicking her feet around every time she got excited. What a great morning it has been in the Starfish room!
