With Miss Megha And Miss Jade

Our group time!

Miss Jade thought it was a good idea to start group time a little early as we had many children who were interested in all our books on the shelves. We gathered around and Miss Jade began to read the book called "Where's my chick." They absolutely loved this book and feeling the different textures to the pages on the book they even got excited when they learnt how they could find certain animals under the flaps. These books are such a joy to read to the babies and they all get engaged with the rhyming ones and they all find the colourful books the best.

This morning Charlotte, Hailey, Arden, Norah and Madeleine particularly enjoyed "group time."

Q-tip painting!

As children have been very interested in the Art lately, I planned to do a different type of painting today in which I used Q-tips as a brush instead of the paint brush. I took 4 Q-tips and joined them together by using a hair tie and put blue, purple and red paint on a plate. I showed children how to dip the q-tips in the paint and then dab it on the paper.

Children made beautiful designs on paper as they took no time in copying me and dipped the q-tips in the paint and then dabbed it on the paper. Children were very fascinated by the soft-paint dipped q-tips and carefully investigated them by touching it, using their fingers.

It was a great art experience, encouraging children's hand-eye coordination and cognitive skills as well.

Our Outdoors!

What a fun outdoor play we had today where children exercised their gross and fine motor skills through different activities and toys like push-walkers, ball-pit, car play mat, climbing tomb and colourful swirls.

Madeleine was very confident in pushing one of the push-walker as she crawled towards it and stood up by holding it from the top rail. Well done, Maddy!

Charlotte enjoyed her outdoor time by playing with the colourful balls with her peers and she loved to collect all the balls and then put them back in the ball-pit.

Amelia and Alina grabbed their attention in holding the swirls in their hands and then waving it in the air as they were copying Ms Jade in doing so.

Arden and Harlow joined their peers in all the activities and Harlow loved to explore the car play mat.

Outdoor play helps children in learning about different surroundings and can make them feel more comfortable with the world around them.

Learning outcomes: 1.1, 1.3, 2.2, 3.1, 4.1, 5.2

Analysis of learning

In today's indoor and outdoor experiences, children's were covered and children enthusiastically participated in the experiences planned for them. Children were able to focus on their cognitive, social, fine and gross motor skills.

Reflection of the day

It was a busy day today but yet we had a fun day where children loved exploring their indoor and outdoor environment. Group time was the best part of the day where children loved to explore the flip-flap books.
